NEWS FLASH

We have received acknowledgment from the President of the World Haggis Hurling Association Robin Dunseath on an article written by Seanachie Editor John Dewing.

My attention has been drawn to your excellent article on Haggis Hurling, contained in your November issue in 2014. You may be interested to know that the photograph of the hurler in dramatic action is in fact myself.

Amazing story, haggis hurling. It is now almost almost 40 years since I revived this most traditional of Scottish sports and have great joy in how well the revival has gone, with Scots and others seeing just how far they can hurl the haggis away from themselves. Long may the revival continue.

Happy Hurling

SCOTTISH CHRISTMAS CONCERT STEWART TARTAN PIPES & DRUMS

Sue Nissen

The Stewart Tartan Pipes & Drums is excited to perform it's 22nd annual Scottish Christmas Concert at the St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Saratoga. The concert is on Saturday December 5, 2015 at 3:00pm.

In addition to the pipes and drums, the concert will feature performances by the San Jose School of Highland Dance, The Holy Cross King's Brass, the Peninsula Scottish Fiddlers, and vocalist Burr Nissen.

Under the direction of Pipe Major Dan Durrler, The Stewart Tartan Pipes & Drums was founded in San Francisco in January 1980. The band is one of the few remaining local bands that dresses in Scottish Military Full Dress.

Since 1980, the band has played at a variety of public events in the Bay Area, including performances at Bay Area parades, Major League sporting events, Community programs, charitable events, in addition to competing at Scottish Games.

The band rehearses at the St Andrew's Episcopal Church in Saratoga on Tuesday evenings at 7:00pm. We seek pipers and drummers in addition to those interested in learning the pipes or drums.

KILTED BOWLING

Chief Nathan Irvine

Saturday, February 13th the SBSS will hold its first annual Kilted Bowling event. We do not know whether there will be a piper but, I've always said "everything's better in a kilt". Most of us aren't very good, but that isn't the point. It will be a grand adventure with prizes and gift certificates for various categories plus more surprises. Afterwards we'll head out for some pints and conversation for a great evening. Anyone with an interest in the kilt will be welcome. You don't have to be Scottish, you don't even have to own a kilt.

We have found that those who get the most out of the SBSS are those who put the most into it. A willingness to share knowledge and experiences with other members is the biggest strength of this forum. We hope you will be an active and participating part of that strength through our events during the year.

Costume Contest

costume contest, mummy wrap and race and "pass the pumpkin" games took place. Andea Anderson took first prize in woman's costume while Matthew Anderson took the Men's prize. Dorrie Scherer won the mummy race with Ed Llamas a close second. The "pass the pumpkin" version of musical chairs ended in a tie between Sheryl Village and Neal McGill. A very nice selection of prizes was there for the winners.

The evening wound down with dancing under the laser lights and fitting music thanks to DJ Nathan Irvine.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Bob Anderson

A wonderful potluck dinner of diverse and delicious dishes was followed by a short business meeting and the annual Halloween Party/General Meeting was on.

Among our usual membership were guests from the East Bay Scottish Society; Debbie Barnes, Gaye and Joye Riojas. They were neighbors again this year at the Pleasanton Games. Also gracing our assembly was author and Scottish story teller Danni Burton. Danni will be our guest speaker at the January General Meeting.

The room was decorated with all things spooky and Nathan Irvine provided the music and lighting while the

BIG TREES SCOTTISH GATHERING AND GAMES

Basil Rhodes - Governor-at-Large, SBSS

On October 3rd, 2015, a re-boot of the Loch Lomond Highland Games was finally realized with the advent of The Big Trees Scottish Gathering and Games. The event was held in the San Lorenzo Valley at Historic Roaring Camp Railroad in Felton, California. The day was warm, pleasant, and a wee bit breezy as people enjoyed the Highland Heavy Athletics such as the Stone Put, the Hammer Throw, the Caber Toss, and the 56 pound Weight for Height. Available food stations provided Scottish Meat Pies, Fish and Chips, and other delicacies. There were two Pipe Bands, our friend Peter Daldry played and sang, an amazing duo of David Brewer and Rebecca Lomnick called "The Fire" dazzled us, a Parade of the Clans, and our South Bay Scottish Society was invited and encouraged to march along with them. There were several booths, purveyors of various and sundry Scottish and Celtic items, as well as clan booths, informational booths, and our own South Bay Scottish Society booth as well!

The venue was smaller, cooler, more intimate than bigger Games like Pleasanton, but it was very easy to navigate and lots and lots of fun. The SBSS were well-represented, and there was a lot of interest in our booth. I'm happy to note that the Big Trees Scottish Gathering and Games will be back in Felton next year, on Saturday October 1st. 2016. I plan to be there.

See next page for an article on the trains at Roaring Camp

A man (employed by a Scotsman): " I have been around here for ten years, sir, doing three mens work for one man's pay, and now I want a raise"

Employer: " I canna gie ye that, but if ye'll tell me the names of the ither twa men, I'll fire 'em.

Patrick was visiting a college observatory. As he was looking at the telescopes, a professor walked in and started making observations. Just then a star fell.

"Begorra, that was a fine shot," said Pat. "and you hardly had time to aim the thing."

ROARING CAMP AND BIG TREES RAILROAD

Graeme Coakley

Nestled amongst the redwoods of the Santa Cruz Mountains, the Roaring Camp and Big Trees Railroad offers a variety of railway journeys from a re-creation of an 1880's logging town. As a heritage railway, these trips include an authentic Redwood Forest Steam Train excursion with 1880's era steam locomotives and a Beach Train excursion with 1920's era diesel locomotive.

Currently, Roaring Camp and Big Trees Railroad uses one of three different geared locomotives to pull their steam trains up Bear Mountain. These geared locomotives are named: Dixiana, Tuolumne, and Sonora.

Starting service from Roaring Camp on April 3, 1963, Dixiana (#1) was the first locomotive acquired by founder, F. Norman Clark. Built by Lima Locomotive Works in 1912, this two-truck engine weighs 42 tons with a tractive effort of 17,330 ft./lbs.

Serving as the second geared locomotive in the Roaring Camp roster, Tuolumne (#2) is a two-truck Heisler and was purchased in 1962 for $7,000. Designed by Charles L. Heisler, this engine weighs 37 tons and has a tractive effort of 14,000 ft./lbs.

Finishing up the roster of geared locomotives, there is Sonora (#7) which is a three-truck shay. Purchased in 1985, Sonora is one of only 83 Shays left in North America and was built in 1911 by the Lima Locomotive Works.

For the Beach Train excursion, Roaring Camp and Big Trees Railroad uses two former Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe (ATSF) CF7 diesel locomotives to haul the Beach Train between the Roaring Camp depot and the Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk. Although these diesel locomotives have been repainted for operation on the Santa Cruz, Big Trees and Pacific Railway, these locomotives still bear their original ATSF numbers (2600 and 2641).

In addition to railway rides, Roaring Camp offers a wide variety of activities which include: A Redwoods Hike · Food at the Chuckwagon BBQ or Red Caboose Restaurant · Gold Panning · Blacksmithing Demonstrations · Candle-Making · Visits with the Town Marshal · Pictures at the Old Time Photo Studio · Shopping at the General Store · And many other activities.

PLEASANTON HIGHLAND GAMES

Chief Nathan Irvine

The 150th Annual Caledonian Club Scottish Highland Gathering and Games, better known as the Pleasanton Games, on Saturday, September 5th and Sunday, September, 6th. Many of SBSS members attended, as always. The SBSS booth saw a lot of action as we were there to provide the service of information on family tartan history, Scottish culture, and chat with potential new members!

Besides clan gatherings in their tents, the Pleasanton Games had great food as always. Food types ranged from Bangers on a roll, Fish and Chips to BBQ Turkey legs and every thing in between. To every Scottish person there is the greatest of spirits, Whiskey Live. Whisky Live gives you the unique opportunity to sample the greatest whiskies in the world, whilst mingling with the producers and distillers, marketers and visitor center staff, all under one roof. In addition to learning about the world of whiskey, you will be able to sample rare and sought-after whiskies and meet the stars of the industry.

Crafts

A personal favorite, at the largest games west of the Mississippi, is that it covers all types of Scottish music. From modern bagpipe with dancing bagpipes to Scottish Country dancing with traditional Scottish music. On both days there were the bagpipe competitions. It was great to listen to bagpipe music with other lovers of the music. On this high note (pun intended), as gratitude for our continued support of the San Jose School of Highland Dancing, stopped by for an impromptu performance, enhanced by members of the MacIntosh Pipe Band, accompany them. It was a joy to watch and we appreciated even more their contribution and hard work to Scottish-American culture in the South Bay. In the area away from the music were the sheep dog trials. This is a competitive dog sport in which herding dogs move sheep around a field, fences, gates, or enclosures as directed by their handlers.

A number of noble SBSS members stepped forward to take two hour shifts manning the booth. These included: John & Beth Dewing Linda & Larry Salter, Neal & Sylvia McGill, Bob Anderson, Basil Rhodes, Andea Anderson, Nathan, Lyn, David & Melva Irvine.

Mark your calendars and see you next year on Sept 3rd & 4th at the Pleasanton Scottish Highland Gathering and Games!

39TH ANNUAL ST. ANDREWS DAY AT EVERGREEN VALLEY COLLEGE

Andy McFarlin

Tuesday, November 17th, 11:30am to 1:00pm

Who would believe it! Next year will be the 40th year this event has been put on by Andy and the Evergreen Valley College.

This year's event promises to follow the successful format we have had the past several years. A march through campus led by Fran McVey and the Scottish American Military Society color guard, the Stewart Tartan Pipes and Drums and a large contingent of students and faculty.

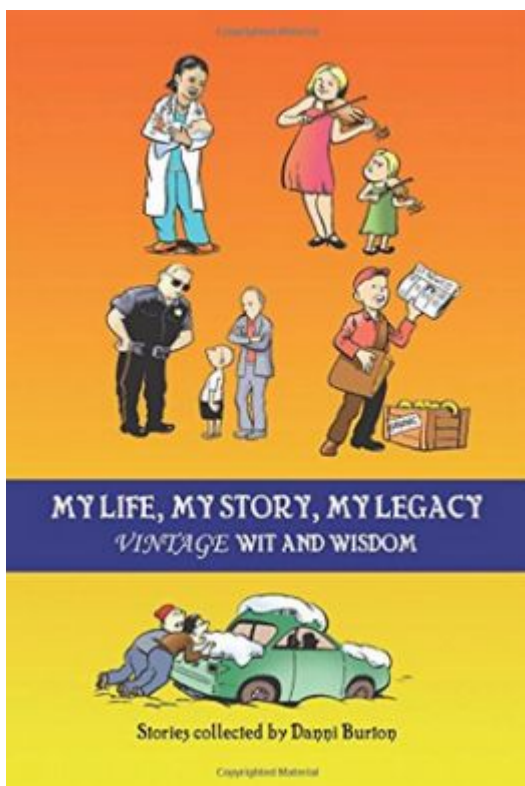

At the program platform, Highland dancers from the San Jose School of Highland Dance will perform dances narrated by George McCombe, past president of the Northern California Dance Association. Here too students and faculty from the college will present choral selections, poetry recitations and historical commentary.

To give the audience a chance to participate, Cathy Allen will provide instruction and guidance in Scottish Country dancing, an event which has grown in popularity in recent programs.

Of course the Ministry of Food will be on hand to whet our appetites with bangers and Celtic rolls. The Celtic Shoppe will be there with their enticing wares.

As a special treat, Father Basil Rhodes, one of our SBSS Board members, will be on hand to provide some Scottish vocal renditions.

Come join us and join in the fun and entertainment. As a special attraction to ALL Scots, attendance as usual is free. By the college library. Free parking. Should weather be inclement, the event will be in the Gullo II Student Center. See you there!

... JANUARY GM 2016 ... WHAT'S UP? Elections - Entertainment - Potluck

Andy McFarlin

Fresh off the press, here is the info you need about the next General Meeting on Friday January 8th, 2016. This is an important date on the SBSS Calendar!

We will elect our Board of Governors for 2016, the leaders who will guide the Society through the coming year. For a list of nominees, see "SBSS Announces Nominees", pg6.

Of course, the night begins with our usually bountiful array of potluck enticements. Following our brief business meeting and elections we will be entertained by Danni Burton (she grew up in a Scottish Canadian family of storytellers), the recent author of the book "My Life - My Story - My Legacy" which she has put together from interviews with many persons. Their stories of hope, inspiration, wisdom and humor. Come ready to share a sampling of these wonderful stories.

Come and bring a friend to share in the start on a new year for the SBSS

SBSS ANNUAL CHIEF'S PICNIC

Marjorie Coakley

On Sunday, September 27th South Bay Scottish Society hosted their Annual Chief's Picnic at Wildwood Park in Saratoga. The weather was beautiful and, as always, our members arrived bringing with them a vast array of delicious savory potluck dishes, salads, mouthwatering desserts, cookies and drinks. Don Village, our Barbecue Master, prepared and cooked the British Bangers which Bette Bedford of the 'Ministry of Food' very kindly donated - as she has every year. Also 'Thank you' to Linda Findley-Salter for bringing our usual traditional cake decorated with the blue and white Saltire.

After a delicious lunch and much socializing, Edward Lamas did a wonderful job in his usual role as bingo caller. There were a great many prizes including various bottles of wine and gift cards which were mysteriously disguised in plain wrapping paper, or in shoe-boxes etc., As Edward called out the numbers there was great anticipation amongst the members and needless to say, the members who were winners were absolutely delighted with their prizes.

Thank you to everyone who came along and made this such an enjoyable day. If you couldn't manage to attend the picnic this year we hope you'll be able to come year.

* The Chief's Picnic was originally created in 1998 by then Chief Andy McFarlin and has become a unique tradition of SBSS.

STEWARD LORI DALY BRINGS A SPECIAL GRANT TO SBSS

Andy McFarlin

The SBSS has become the proud recipient of a grant from PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP Charitable Foundation. This thru the special efforts of Lori Daly, the Steward of SBSS who is employed by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP.

The considerable grant of $1500 was awarded thru PwC in their program of recognizing their employees who provide volunteer services to organizations, in this case the South Bay Scottish Society, that make a difference in the community in which they live and work.

The SBSS feels honored to have received this recognition thru the dedication and efforts of our Steward Lori Daly.

Our bonnets off and a special three cheers for Lori, and a special thank you to PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP of San Jose.

THE CROOKED ROAD CEILI BAND

Julie Horner

Based in the Santa Cruz Mountains, The Crooked Road Céilí Band is anchored by Julie Horner and David Chadwick. David and I met at the Sunday traditional Irish seisiún at O'Flaherty's Irish Pub in San Jose a dozen years ago and have hosted the Tuesday night seisiún there ever since. I cut my teeth on Celtic music at John Taylor's iconic King's Head Pub seisiún in Campbell back in the day and performed for many a Highland Games in the 1990s with the now defunct group, Celtic Blacklyst. David rode his bicycle across Ireland with a mandolin strapped to his back, spending years woodshedding the music on fiddle back at home.

The Crooked Road Céilí Band features a high-ranking roster of professional musicians to round out the trio, and sometimes a quartet, to provide lively acoustic music for a wide variety of events including weddings, dances, and public and private occasions of all kinds. We share our love of traditional music prolifically, keeping a calendar bursting with musical endeavors.

We discovered our regular third member, guitarist and singer-songwriter, Ken Bewick, at the seisiún at the Poet & Patriot Irish Pub in Santa Cruz. Ken puts the groove to our traditional tunes, taking the energy to new levels. Adding another layer of interest, we often ask local bluegrass legend, Mark McCornack to join us on 5-string banjo, which gives our sound a down-home Americana feel. And when we're fortunate, bodhrán player, Russ Bennett is available when an event calls for the drive of the traditional frame drum.

Together in many forms, The Crooked Road Céilí Band has been invited to play on stage at Ardenwood's annual Tartan Day celebration; the highly regarded international music festival, Church Street Fair in Santa Cruz; the Big Trees Scottish Festival and Highland Games at Roaring Camp; and for the South Bay Scottish Society Robert Burns supper – eight years running if you include the years we were playing as Cooking with Turf!

Doug Lowder (fiddle) and Jack Gilder (concertina, flute) make up The Crooked Road quartet. We met at the famed Plough & Stars Irish seisiún in San Francisco, and Jack, David, and I are regulars at Lark in the Morning annual music and dance camp in Mendocino. The Crooked Road plays once a month for Irish set dancing at the Plough and we host the enormously popular twice-a-year Irish céilí at the Felton Trout Farm Inn.

The Crooked Road Céilí Band is also in demand to play traditional dance music for Scottish céilídh, joining forces with callers Linda Henderson and Juliet Davoren for numerous private parties throughout the year.

One of our favorite specialties is providing music for weddings. We've traveled as far as Mammoth Lakes and Lake Tahoe to help families celebrate very special moments, performing in cathedrals of stone and cathedrals of redwood forest alike. The hammered dulcimer is much sought after for adding an evocative magic to traditional pieces like Amazing Grace and Pachelbel's Cannon in addition to melodies from the Irish and Scottish tradition.

The Crooked Road Céilí Band plays for the sheer joy of making music and being able to share our enthusiasm with our community, aiming to put a jig in your step and a song in your heart! Join us at O'Flaherty's Irish Pub every Tuesday in downtown San Jose, and we'll see you at the SBSS Robert Burns Supper on Saturday, January 16, 2016!
